

Pulmonary Function Lab at UWMC - Northwest Campus

How to find us

This handout explains how to find the Pulmonary Lung Function Lab at UW Medical Center - Northwest campus, in Seattle, Washington. It includes a map of the campus and parking information.

Finding Our Lab

The Pulmonary Lung Function Lab is in the E-Wing of UWMC - Northwest hospital. You will need to park in Parking Lot G. To get to the lab:

- Drive through the hospital gates. Take the first right after passing the totem pole. The Emergency Room (ER) entrance will be on your left.
- Follow the signs for “E-Wing.” You will go through a few parking lots.
- When you get to Lot G, you have arrived at E-wing.
- After parking, enter the double doors of the building. The lab front desk will be on your left.

Please talk with your provider if you have any questions about your test.
